

Special Agricultural Train Attracted A Large Crowd to Oyen.

Lectures delivered were listened to with keen interest, and very favorably commented upon.

Local Items

Oyen Agricultural Fair, Wednesday, August 11th.

Lost—Lapel watch chain, gold, initial S engraved on button. Reward will be paid for return of same to the office of The Oyen News.

Mr. E. P. Barbour, who has been travelling for The Alberta Steele Grainery Co., returned to town on Monday morning.

Mr. Arthur Yorath, who owns a section of land about five miles out of town, left for Saskatoon on Monday's train. Mr. Yorath will enlist there for active service.

Mr. C. A. Gilders has purchased a Ford Car from P. H. Peterson, the local dealer.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dell of Neepawa, Man., arrived in town last Wednesday. They left town the same day to pay a visit to their son, Mr. Truman Dell, of Hemsdale.

Mrs. Jas. Young of Seal is visiting her son, Mr. M. Young. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Irving returned to town from Chignik last Monday.

Mr. S. A. Miller spent a few days in Kindersley this week.

Mr. James Murray and Wm. Wm. Rennie are now residing at the Alberta Hotel.

Mr. Archie Affleck and Mr. Allan Affleck left for Calgary this morning.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Williams of Oyen, on Thursday July 29th, a son weighing twelve pounds.

Mr. Geo. Kennedy and Mr. H. Marsden will arrive about August 10th, with a fine bunch of horses from the Kennedy ranch at Medicine Hat. If you want a horse it will pay you to see them.

Mrs. Marge of Seal is lying in the hospital here as a result of an unfortunate accident which occurred while she and some friends who have been visiting her, were diving into town today at noon. While turning a bend in the trail, the trunk on which Mrs. Marge was sitting gave a lurch and threw her out of the wagon, when she fell to the ground and one of the wheels passed over her body. At the time of going to press the extent of her injuries are not known, but she is badly shaken and it is believed that her shoulder is dislocated.

Mrs. Hancock of Winnipeg, and her daughter are visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. Hancock.

Mrs. Lockerie of Kindersley who has been the guest of Mrs. J. Naismith Sr. for several days, returned to her home last Tuesday.

A grand concert will be given in aid of the Red Cross Society in the Methodist church, on Friday, August 20th.

The "mixed farming Special" which is touring Alberta under the auspices of the Alberta Department of Agriculture arrived in Oyen last night, and was opened to the public this morning sharp at nine o'clock.

Several visitors to town arrived at an early hour this morning. At eight o'clock a steady stream of people kept coming in, and at the time the train was shunted on to the main track, and thrown open to the public several hundred were present, giving the town a gala day appearance.

A trip through the exhibit cars amply repaid those who had driven in from outlying points. The exhibits in all classes of work were of the very highest order, and the lecturers in charge of the various departments eagerly imparted information in answer to all inquiries. The models of all classes of farm buildings were very complete as were the exhibits in other departments of farm work and farm produce. Interesting and particularly instructive addresses were given on various kinds of live stock, by capable lecturers who demonstrated points in their addresses on the animals which were on exhibit. Each lecturer, came in for a hearty ovation at the end of his address.

The invitation extended to the ladies of the district to visit the train and hear the lectures on Domestic Science and the Women's Institute Department brought the fair sex to town in unusual numbers, and judging from the many happy smiling faces, they appeared to have fully enjoyed the mornings outing and entertainment.

Interesting lectures were given on domestic science and the Women's Institute, after which a local branch of the Women's Institute was formed with the following officers:— President, Mrs. W. H. Macdonald; Vice-Pres., Mrs. W. T. A. Walker; Sec-Treas., Mrs. J. Naismith, Sp. Directors Mrs. R. E. Gillespie, Mrs. W. H. Peterson and Mrs. Church. Auditors, Mrs. Ellyeson and Mrs. W. W. Ireland.

The following officials travelled on the train:—

Mr. Swain, in charge for the C. N. R., Mr. Jas. Clements, in charge for the Dept. of Agriculture, Miss McLeod, Supt. of the Women's Institute, Miss Goldie, and Miss Hayward, Hon. Inst. from School of Agriculture, Mr. W. F. Stevens, Live Stock Commissioner, Mr. Scott, Dairy Dept., Mr. McEldern, Asst. Game Warden of the Province, Mr. Bolton, Mesh. Inst. from School of Agriculture at Olds, Mr. Shanks from School of Agriculture at Vermillion, and Mr. J. A. McColl, M. L. A.

Nothing but the most favourable comments on the exhibits and lectures were heard, and it was with considerable regret that the large crowd watched the train leave for Sibbald at about 12.30.

Getting Started.

It was Burke who said, "If you want to go anywhere you have to start from where you are."

How many of us seem to overlook this little truism. We suddenly become possessed with an idea that we ought to get to a certain place, that we ought to accomplish this or that, but we forget the preparation or process of getting there. Position seems to mean a lot from a certain point of view, but if we would fill any place acceptably we need to take the preparatory steps, to start from where we are.

Too many of us get the idea that success or achievement may be gained by a single effort. We overlook the intermediary space between where we are and where we want to get. We make the attempt, and when we fail our discouragement overwhelms us. On the other hand we should not neglect to move forward because we are too timid to try new ground. Starting from where we are, we envisage much disappointment and many stumbles by making a careful study of all the conditions and mulling up our mind that we will pay the price of persistence, faith and patience.

The Cost of High Living

Eighty-eight million gallons of whisky were made in the United States last year. Who drank it all?

Fifteen billion cigarettes were manufactured in the United States last year. Who smoked them all?

Thirty-two million pounds of snuff were manufactured in the United States last year. Who did all the sneezing?

Two hundred and twenty million pounds of smoking tobacco were made in the United States last year. Who inhaled the pipe dreams?

Eight and half billion cigars were made in the United States last year. Who made all the smoke?

Half billion packages of chewing gum were manufactured last year in the United States. Who works their jaws?

Twenty thousand moving picture theaters paid $25,000,000 for films last year and 11,000,000 persons saw the moving pictures. Where did they get all the dime and nickels?

Ten billion copies of newspapers were printed in America last year. Who took time to read them?

One hundred seventy thousand clergymen preached in two hundred and twenty thousand churches, and the congregations of all denominations numbered forty million. Who went to church?

It is interesting to know what is going on—the things that people are doing and who are doing them—and why.

Conscription

The London Economist calculates that something like twenty nine million men are now under arms in Europe, not including the mobilized but in active troops of Switzerland, Holland and other neutral nations. This would be about ten per cent of the total population of Germany, Austria, France and Servia, and about five per cent of the total population of Russia, England, Italy and Turkey; or it would be seven per cent of the population of the belligerent countries taken in a lump. Such is the rather staggering result of the Napoleonic system of conscription.

"I can afford to spend thirty thousand men a month," said Napoleon to Matternich in 1805 and from about then European statescraft adopted the idea of conscription to afford luxury was necessary to the success of its game. Revolutionary France threatened on all sides by a monarchist coalition, had adopted a military levy en masse to defend the country; but it is interesting that Carnot, the great organizer of the defensive victories of Revolutionary France, was opposed to conscription and that the system immediately adopted, in fact, an instrument of aggression abroad and of autocracy at home.

The obscure Council of Five Hundred, representative of nothing in particular, sitting on the ashes of the revolution and the ruins of the army, passed the law that set up conscription in France; to be rapidly perverted by Bonaparte, extended by him to conquered territory, adopted by Prussia, and so to become the universal system on the Continent.

The basic principle is that every able-bodied male of a certain age must undergo thorough military training and serve a given term with the colors—virtually with no exemptions and no holding of substitutes.

This is the system that many British observers expect—and wish—the new ministry to introduce into their country. Government command of property such the whole male population may be turned to great account in peace as well as war.

This was shown in France, where the government broke a railroad strike by virtually putting the strikers, who were also army reservists, under military orders—disobedience to which was punishable with death. The Prussian Government's use of employees of the state-owned railroads and other public utilities is undoubtedly strengthened by the fact that the men are subject to military orders. That the introduction of the system in England will be attended by a very lively row seems fairly certain.

The Kaiser says that he will make the earth rock, but he has nothing on Kruger, who was going to stagger humanity.

German will of course explain that they torpedoed the Ostenda because she might have been going back to get ammunition.

So Begbie didn't kiss the Canadian ones after all. Which is nearly as lucky for them as it was expensive for a Montreal contemporary.

Because Kitchener has an army of four million men he has no reason for relaxing our recruiting efforts. The more million men Kitchener has, the less fighting there will be.

Germany now claim that if the Ostenda had a dummy gun on board her sinking was justified. Why not go a step further and say that if she had a place on board where she could have put a dummy gun if she had one her sinking would have been a deed of righteous retribution?

How to Make a Ford.

There was an old man who had a wooden leg;
He had no money, and he just couldn't beg;
But he had a piece of pipe and a 12 inch board.

And he said, "By golly, I'll build me a Ford."
So he took a gallon of gas and a sprinckle of oil,
And a piece of rusty wire to make him a coil;
Four big spools and an old tin can.

He hammered them together and the dam thing ran.

Giving Lumber Away

Will break any Firm. We have no get-rich-quick schemes to offer you. We are not running a gift enterprise and we give you no chance in a lottery. But we are selling reliable goods at a price which is right. If you want a local dealer to stay with you to supply your requirements don't make, or try to make a sucker of him for the sharks to gobble up, and then hand you what is coming to you when you get into deep water. It is more profitable to retain an old customer than to look for a new one. If your treatment at our hands is not perfectly satisfactory, let us know and we will correct it. —It is satisfactory, give us the pleasure of serving you again.

Ox Talk

By Andrew Oyen.

Sig Ross, on guard at right hand wing;
When my old lasso at you fling,
Will scoff at men's servility,
And hum your song of liberty;
As you were reared at mother's knee,
When life's first dawn were cast on thee,
And skittish Bill, the second best,
I may catch you, though, at a feast;
A rap on head you quite despise;
That overbearing awful vice,
Would jerk the plow so quick indeed,
In spite, to throw me off my seat.
Great Sam, if you would try your best,
Could put some horses lungs to test;
Most fond of herring, pork and mugh;
And for the stalks in cornfields rush,
Will not from hardest work refrain,
Still ever true to fates domain.
Old Dick, your teeth have gone to waste;
Now, what about some Dentist's paste.
Don't believe your match was ever born,
Braved summers twelve, not yet forlorn;
Kind use now ought to be your lot,
Until you rest beneath the sod.
Don't hurry spot, your breath will break,
Though making money is at stake;
You still remain my best of friend;
Can surely on your strength depend,
At present age most things move fast,
So better make a fair protest.
Now, Tom, my greatest pet of all,
Here comes your turn, must on you call
To turn to left, at my command,
Must shout out you, to comprehend;
Now, don't neglect your grazing plan,
That, has your compensation run.

Of Interest to Farmers.

The following letter received by the Secretary of the Board of Trade should prove of interest to all farmers in this district.

Tip Secretary,
Board of Trade, Oyen, Alta.
Dear Sir:—

For a number of years the Canadian Northern Railway has been exhibiting grains and grasses and products of Western Canada at various State fairs in the United States and the larger exhibitions in Eastern Canada and the old country.

It occurs to me that you may desire to have your district represented in this display, in which case we would be very glad to see that due credit is given you, if you will be so good as to furnish a couple of crates of grains and grasses grown in your district, crates to be about 9 feet long, 3 feet wide and about 21 feet deep, so that they can be conveniently handled in our Baggage cars, such samples, of course, could be put up in ordinary sheaves.

I show below the usual plan followed in collecting such grains and grasses, in order to properly protect them for exhibition purposes.

The grain should not be cut too ripe to avoid shelling and should be put under shelter a few days after cutting to prevent the straw from getting dis-colored. The sheaves should be bound in at least two places in order to keep the heads good,
and should be packed very carefully. The grains should also be cut as close to the ground as possible so as to show the full length of the straw.

The grasses should be cut with a sickle and put under shelter as soon as possible after cutting and if possible hung up in a barn so that the sun may not strike the straw and bleach same; in this way the grasses will keep their natural color for years. Do not ship any grasses until they are properly cured or dried as they are apt to heat when being shipped and be of no use for exhibition purposes.
It is most important that these rules be followed, and if you are notifying any of the important farmers in your district to reserve grains and grasses, it will be advisable for you to bring before them the manner of taking care of same for the purpose desired.

Acadia ValleyGrand Patriotic Concert

A very successful Patriotic concert was held in the Hall on Friday evening, July 2nd.
What would have been the outstanding feature of the evening was the debate, "Free Trade vs.
Tariff," could not be given owing to the Oyen men not turning up, so the Free Trade side only was given in the form of speeches. The programme was first class and consisted of songs, readings, duets and quartettes. The Male Quartette Competition between Sibbald and Acadia Valley was thoroughly appreciated. Sibbald being the winners received a prize of ten dollars, but being united with large hearts handed back the ten dollars to the Patriotic Fund, thus showing an excellent spirit. Other very special items were duets by Mr. and Mrs. Flemming, and songs by Miss Munro, who were encored every time. Recitations were ably given by Mrs. F. C.
Stehmann. Mrs. McCleod was pianist. The concert was presided over by the Rev. S. Pike, Methodist Minister. Supper was served at 11:30. The sum of $50.00 was raised for the Patriotic fund.

so that he will give you every crates to me, should you desire to take advantage of this opportunity.

These exhibits will, of course be displayed at the Exhibitions
next year and will materially assist in bringing your district prominently before the right class of people. Each sheaf of grain should be properly tagged showing the name of the farmer and where it is grown.

Thanking you for your kind
co-operation, I remain

Yours truly,
